Organisers

Central Institute of Indian Languages

The Central Institute of Indian Languages works for the promotion of Indian languages and helps the Government of India in matters related to language policy. Established in 1969, CIIL has a glorious history of five decades during which it has developed as a hub of activities focusing on Indian languages. Scholars working on any aspect of language/linguistics will find resonance with the on-going activities at CIIL. The Institute takes up study on Indian languages on its own and by collaborating with other academic institutions. Concerning the languages of India, CIIL is certainly the most resourceful institution in India. The Institute also houses major schemes focusing on different aspects of language; NTS-I, LDC-IL, NTM, Bharatavani Project, SPPEL etc. just to name a few.

Linguistic Society of India

The Linguistic Society of India is a body of intellectuals working on languages and promotion of Linguistics. The society has been in existence since 1929 and has built a strong network of Linguistics scholars. LSI has become a household name among the linguists of this country. The society organises an annual conference attracting a wide range of participation from India and abroad. These events bring together generations of linguists. So far, the society has organised 39 events, and this one is the 40th edition of LSI event. Arguably, LSI events serve as a gateway to Linguistics for most Linguistics scholars in this country.

Reach Us

Central Institute of Indian Languages (CIIL) is about 4.5 Kms from Mysuru Junction and about 6 kms from Mysuru Rural Bus Stand (also known as Suburban Bus Stand). The nearest landmark is Basappa Memorial Hospital (popularly known as BMH and is just opposite to CIIL on the Hunsur Road). People from other states reach Mysuru mostly via Bengaluru, which is about 140 kms away, either by rail or road. By rail, express trains reach Mysuru in 3 hrs. By road, it will take about 3 to 4 hrs by non-stop services of state run buses.

Mysore

Mysore is a well-planned historical town having plenty of cultural and academic vibrance. The city is close to numerous tourist destination like Ooty, Coorg, Chikmagalur etc. It is among the cleanest cities of India offering excellent diversity for food and languages. Beautiful climate, historical sites, small population, less traffic on road and connectivity by rail, road & air make the city of Mysore a most sought after tourist attraction in South India.
